Message From Founder

Respected partners:

Twenty years ago, when I stood in a warehouse full of raw materials and watched workers struggling to move bulk goods, a question always lingered in my mind: how to make industrial packaging not only carry weight but also convey value? Starting from the first second-hand sewing machine, to today's intelligent production line around the clock, we always believe that the jumbo bag is not only a container for goods, but also a "guardian" of the industry chain. The corrosiveness of chemical raw materials, the risk of dust from mineral powders, the hygienic requirements of food additives.....

Every breakthrough in technical details comes from listening to customers' pain points.

We are honored that our products have been serving our business partners in more than 30 countries around the world, but what makes us feel more comfortable than the numbers is the words

"We feel at ease using your jumbo bags" received from our customers. This trust makes us press one more seam line when weaving the base fabric, and do one more drop test before leaving the factory - the "super standard" of quality is the "most basic" of commitment.

Standing at the starting point of a new decade, we will continue to explore the innovative boundaries of functional packaging, so that every jumbo bag can become a "silent comrade" in your supply chain.

We look forward to working with you to make the world more efficient and safer with the power of packaging.
